WV DOH Paving High Street

The project is set to last two weeks.

MORGANTOWN - The West Virginia Department of Transportation's Division of Highways (@WVDOT) has started on a project this week that will make the ride downtown a lot smoother.

The DOH agreed to pave High Street after the City of Morgantown completed its five-phase Streetscape Program, which was completed last year.

Milling began Monday evening around 6 p.m., and commuters on the Tuesday Morning route through downtown noticed the work being done.

While paving is going on, all on-street parking between Willey Street and Walnut Street will be closed from Willey Street to Foundry Street from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. Visit ParkMPA.com to explore alternative parking locations and discover one that fits your budget and time requirements.

A spokesman for the WVDOT say the project is planned to last two weeks. There will be no work on Friday evening, May 23, or Monday evening, May 26.
